Personal Statement

My continuing years in tertiary education has molded me to be not only geared towards the promotion of pharmaceutical excellence and quality health care but also to be flexible to the dynamic opportunities that the different fields of pharmacy afford be it in the retail, hospital or manufacturing practice. Having the privilege to work with one of the top schools in the Philippines, my alma mater the University of Santo Tomas has imparted on me the values of commitment, compassion and striving for competence while shaping my character into one that displays modesty and veracity.
